The Amateurs and the Australians Have Another All Week Competition in the International Sailing Match—The Mascotte Beats Gaby Queen, Scores Against Mr. Lord, and Queens Ship Wins a Sailing at Sandycliff Bay—Sailing at Southampton—Full Details.

QUEENS, Aug. 31.—The last of the preliminary races in the International sailing match between amateurs and colonists took place this morning, the last between Princess Beatrice of Battenberg and Princess Louise of England, and the other between John Gordon of the United States and Sir Alexander of Australia, Scott and Turner were the winners. The weather was brilliant, but the water was somewhat choppy. Scott and Turner distanced the field, and won an easy victory in a short distance. A fast spurt during the race, which took place shortly. The latter had a lead of 2 minutes. His time was 2 minutes 40 seconds.

Turner has shown up big a favorite for the second race with Robinson as Scott has for the first, five to one being offered on him. The race got off together, and Robinson got a good start by the first buoy, Turner's boat being the last to round. Turner and Scott followed Robinson's boat, and Turner's boat was the last to round. Turner's boat was the last to round. Turner's boat was the last to round.

THE NEWS FROM ABROAD.

RETURNING TO A THRONE.

James H. Walker & Co.

James H. Walker & Co. invite today the citizens of Chicago and strangers sojourning here to visit the opening of probably the handsomest retail Dry-Goods establishment on the continent. From the corner-stone to the roof, in the construction of the building, nothing has been omitted that will contribute to the comfort of customers, and much study has been given to any question that in every hours will relieve the unpleasantness of shopping. My goods will be offered for sale in the basement, leaving the remaining six floors as light as sunlight and glass can make them. There is ample room for carriages on Wabash-av. and Adams-st., and great pleasure will be taken by careful ushers in piloting ladies on this their first tour of inspection through the various departments.

Mr. Thomas Kilpatrick, with a corps of expert buyers, has been diligently at work in the various marts of Europe during the summer months making such selections as a correct and cultivated taste demand. The buyers of this house are the ones upon whom the responsibility falls, and the judgment of the public must decide the merits of their selections. The skill and taste of the buyer is reflected in the goods offered, and upon his criterion is united. It is earnestly desired by the members of this house that the fact may be understood that superiority of fabric and excellence of all goods shall be considered first, and that the same shall be bought as close as possible. Inferior and unreliable fabrics, always dear at any price, will not be considered at all. It will be impossible to describe the various departments in detail. That will have to follow in our advertising columns of the daily press.

There are few countries in Europe but what have been drawn upon for this display. France and the Continent have contributed as choice a collection of Dress Novelties as can be found in any of the brilliant windows of the Louvre; and if a lady should emerge from Le Bon Marche, that elegant storehouse of pretty things, and encounter across the street this equally well selected stock of James H. Walker & Co. the same bewilderment would be sure with to choosing from the great variety displayed.

Paris has also contributed for this house a pupil of Worth in the person of Madame Canavion, whose period of service with that famous fashion autocrat enables her to offer to the ladies of Chicago the same advantages obtained at that popular establishment. From private sources, without announcement, Madame C. has booked for immediate consideration a list of orders for custom costumes that sufficiently establishes the fact that the consummate of a perfect-fitting garment with harmony in every detail and the satisfactory feeling that careful inspection exhibits only perfection in a matter which the ladies of Chicago will highly prize.

From the Wabash-av. entrance the aisles on the Adams-st. side are devoted to Silks, Velvets, and Worsted Dress Goods; the centre aisles to Laces, Ribbons, Gloves, Hosiery, and Men's Furnishing Goods; and the north side to Linens, Fancy and White Goods. Here is the finest stock of Household Linens ever marshaled in Chicago. The second floor is devoted to Shawls, Mantles, Ladies' Muslin Underwear, and Infants' Goods; the third floor to Cottons, Prints, Ginghams, Flannels, Clothing, etc.; the fourth floor to Carpets and Upholstery; the fifth to Dressmaking, etc.; and the sixth to manufacturing. It is quite useless to attempt to detail here any particulars. The invitation is warmly urged upon our future patrons of Chicago to come and see us on this our opening day.

The Case Made Against the Record for Alleged Violation of the Civil-service Rules—Foster Speaks to Labor Men Sep. 13.—The Process for the Fighter of John Davis.—A Bill for an Opposition Agent Post Soap-dodger Matters.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Secretary Endicott will be back from the North next week. He will be back in time to prepare an answer to charges that all the State Banks of ex-Secretary Comptroller Dawes, E. Davis, Mr. Davis & Co. stands in Baltimore, Md., but we think it will have interest of the people when Mr. Endicott's opinion is given out as to what the charges in answer to the charges of ex-Secretary Dawes. Mr. Endicott has studied the situation of the civil-service rules before the President and is now in Washington Commissioner, to file an answer. Mr. Endicott has been absent from the city for some days, and it is understood that the answer will be filed by Commissioner Lyman, who has been left in charge of the office during Mr. Endicott's absence. Inasmuch as the charges involve the responsibility for complaints from the management of the civil service that the Commissioner has failed to enforce the provisions and of a host of other important questions and matters under the jurisdiction of which there are thousands of complaints, the commissioner's answer will be looked for with much interest. Secretary Endicott's subordinates of the office, however, express confidence in what is to be given out, and say that the answer will be a complete refutation of all charges against the civil service. Mr. Dawes, it is said, has been in Washington for the past week, and has had several conferences with Secretary Endicott. It is said that he has secured an assistantship in the Treasury at the request of Secretary Endicott, and that he will be appointed.

During the vacation of which Mr. Endicott's absence is not the only feature, Assistant Secretary Bussey is left in charge of the office, and will be for some time. Mr. Bussey is a Democrat, and has been in the Treasury Department for many years. He is a native of Kentucky, and has been in the service of the Government for many years. IN GENERAL.

The Cook County Democracy has applied for leave of court to file its petition for the removal of Judge Gary from the Criminal Court. It will be presented to-day.

The value of freight imported at this port during August, inclusive of shipments by lake and transferred cargoes, was $1,171,911, against $1,162,000 for August, 1885. The total amount of the Chicago Customs duties collected during August, 1886, was $1,171,911, against $1,162,000 for August, 1885.

John Ryan, who was struck on the head with an iron bolt by the hands of Thomas Geoghegan, a fellow-workman, on the Pennsylvania road, on Aug. 21, in such a manner as to cause fatal injuries, died at the County Hospital from concussion of the brain. Geoghegan was arrested, and the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of manslaughter against him. He was committed to the County Jail by Justice Hoyne, in default of $5,000 bail.

A fast freight train on the Chicago & Grand Trunk road ran into the rear end of a passenger train at Battle Creek, Mich., yesterday morning, and completely demolished the caboose. Conductor Hathaway, who was in charge of the freight train, was severely injured about the head and shoulders, and Brakeman Fred Harris received injuries about the head and body which will probably result in his death. Engineer Hathaway and Fireman Hall, of the freight train, escaped with slight injuries. The passengers were badly shaken up, but no one was seriously injured. The damage to the engines and cars will amount to $5,000.

The damage to the engines and cars will amount to $5,000.

Charged with Embezzling Money from Customers, a complaint is pending in Justice Summerfield's court, against Charles Hoyt, a clerk in the Lake Shore Dispatch office, 111 Dearborn street. Hoyt, it is alleged, collected money from customers, and failed to turn over the amount collected to the company. The amount of the shortage is said to be $1,000. Hoyt was arrested yesterday afternoon and held to the Criminal Court in default of $1,000 bail.

Fifty-three Italians arrived in the city yesterday morning from New York, and were taken to the Italian Immigrant Home, on Illinois street. They will be employed on the Illinois Central railroad.

Mrs. Mary Dwight, a widow of Dwight, Ill., was found dead in bed at her residence, 1,000 Wabash avenue, yesterday morning. Coroner Hertz was notified, and will hold an inquest to-day.

These illustrations represent "The Fairs" Saucepans, Coolers, and Tea-Kettles from Stoves and Ranges. The most practical, useful, and useful household articles ever offered to the public. Don't fail to get one. We warrant each and every one of these articles to be in first-class order and satisfactory, or money will be refunded. This kettle is also so constructed that it cannot boil over. It has a perfect flow from the inside of the kettle into the fire, with a perfect draft, so that all steam and odor is carried off through the chimney; also has compartments, so that meats, vegetables, etc., are separated from each other while cooking. They do not mix the taste of soups, or spoil up the effects of the stove or range, or smell up the whole house. This cooker is a wonderful time saver. It is a well arranged set with all necessary articles complete. Every one who has had experience knows that with meats and vegetables, etc., are not only separated, but each article cooks by itself, and is ready to serve at the same time. By a simple arrangement of a steam dish, and with an ingenious device, one turns a steam, equal to value to one cooking five dishes at once.

THE LAST DAYS OF A POET

HARROWING CLOSING OF THE LIFE OF JOHN G. SAXE.

How the Unlucky Wit and Humorist, When Stricken Brought to Himself Pain and Complication and to Many a Household Nearly Laughter-Provoking Couple of Doctors Unconsciously Waiting for the Final Symptoms.

Brooklyn Magazine: In a large and handsomely furnished apartment in a fashionable brown-stone house on Court street, in the City of Cities, and almost within a stone's throw of the great Capitol, who, or rather, or outside throughout the land a score of years ago, was not that to every thing, a fact that is now and henceforth, a thing that, in some and amusing, and a mock that is quick and circulation—by true ears, yes full and listening, given outside the strength and pride of other days. This now is John Godfrey Saxe, the poet.

So was the nation's wit and humorist, whose delicious morsels brought to himself fame and a competency, and to many a household the sweetest smile or hearty laugh. Even across the sea he was known as "the Thomas Hood of America."

Yet, alas! how unlikely seemed to the shrinking eye of this man's days! His eyes seem to be here dear to all his words. Few people know that he is an alien, but of an exclusively human attachment which at this moment does not, but has been, but was no longer existed among his kin. The record of a descendant of the pioneer generations, his father, Dr. Saxe, was a clergyman and poet himself, the latter making one of the first editorial men and editors who ever belonged to the city of the same name in which he was born, and which he has made
